Good News Friday ... The Hard Times

DEFENDING THE REPUBLIC
NOV 6

READ IN APP

Friday: November 06, 2026

Dear Patriot,

We are in for very hard times.

There is no way to sugar-coat that reality, even in Good News Friday.

Our hearts were broken Tuesday night. We know that you ALL have felt that same ache and despair.

So, what do we do?

First, we urge that you remove all Fake News from your life, especially Fox News.

These people are mass producing propaganda meant to depress and demotivate you. You can believe almost nothing that is said by anyone at any Fake News outlet. Nor can you trust most "conservative" podcasts. We will be making suggestions in the coming weeks of podcasts you can trust.

Second, if you do not have an account on X/Twitter, get one today. We understand many people do not want social media. You do not have to post or like or repost anything. But it is the only place to get truth. You can check any post in real time by hitting the circle with the line through it at the top right of every post and ask Grok, Is this true?. You will get an answer and the evidence to support it. Grok also will reveal Artificial/Super Intelligence items.

But, no doom-scrolling...which is spending hours reading your feed.

We do that so you don't have to!

Third, do not fall victim to rumors and psychological operations designed to steal your attention. Start by being skeptical of everything.

Every rumor about everyone in the Trump Administration needs to checked.

Fourth, keep reading this newsletter. We are committed to searching out the truth and sharing it with you.

It is a complicated job. We do it to make getting the truth easier.

Fifth, share the truth. As Samual Adams said we are "setting brushfires of freedom in the minds of men." The truth burns. Sometime it is just a small ember waiting for a wind to spread it.

Sixth, and most important, keep praying. We do not know God's plan but He has one. He knows the evil man is capable of and He will help us fight the evil. Or, He will call us home. Either way, we are a nation founded on His word and He calls us to pray to Him on its behalf. It seems that most of our nation does not pray, we need to be the people that do, without ceasing.

> "If my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land." – 2 Chronicles 7:14

These six actions may seem trite or insignificant. We assure you that each one compounded by thousands is a force that can move mountains. And also, know this…we ARE the majority in this country.

President Trump long ago decided that his presidency would be one of solving complex and sticky world problems.

Everything he does is politically grueling. But, in the long run, the benefits of his resolve could save our children.

In 1986, Ronald Reagan was President and Republicans lost 8 Senate seats. Today Reagan is remembered as one of the greatest Presidents in the history of the United States.

As you can imagine, it was tough finding the GOOD NEWS but we managed to dig up a few things!

1- Take time over the weekend to listen to this replay of the live Promethean Action from Thursday.

There is a bigger game that President Trump is orchestrating. You may want to listen to it twice to catch it all. Since we have never had the world explained to us this way…it can be jarring at first. But the more you listen the more you know what is really happening.

Learn why the Left is going after Pete Hegseath.

Learn who manipulates gas prices.

2- Hope everyone is happy about their lower gas prices today.

Mission Accomplished – As Expected, Gas and Diesel Prices Begin Dropping

> QUOTE: The price of gasoline and diesel fuel has begun dropping quickly. This downward price pressure will continue through January, eventually highlighting just how much financial manipulation via speculative trading was behind the price.
> You can actually watch/see the prices dropping via GAS BUDDY Here. Most of the price increase was driven by market manipulation designed to influence the U.S. political outcome.
> The western market 'justification' per se' was the Iran war and the oil disruption from the Strait of Hormuz, but that's not what drove up the price. The timing of the drop tells you the story that many deniers maintained for the past several months.
> Behind that curtain are the traders, speculators, ideological banks and financial systems who create the finance system for the energy market. Want to stop oil exploitation, change the lending requirements to favor windmills and solar panels etc. Not coincidentally changing these lending rules and regulations was Mark Carney's former job. Does that sound like an open market approach?

Thus, when you really understand how this pricing is structured you begin to realize the price of diesel has nothing to do with the supply of it and the price is more controlled by those who wish to generate financial -or political- outcomes from it.

3- Outgoing Governor DeSantis, who, if not the only, is one of the very few elected Republicans worth any consideration for future office. (That is not an endorsement. Just a fact.)

He has actually accomplished what he said he would. Instead of going on Fox every night and talking about doing something…he has done it.

He nails how lazy Congress has been and the opportunity it threw away.

BONUS… you won't have to give Fox your valuable attention to know about it.

Ron DeSantis GOES NUCLEAR on Spineless Senate Republicans for SQUANDERING Two Years of GOP Control

> QUOTE: Florida Governor Ron DeSantis unleashed a blistering attack on Republican leadership following Tuesday's disastrous midterm elections, accusing GOP lawmakers of squandering their opportunity to deliver sweeping conservative reforms while Republicans controlled the White House and both chambers of Congress.
> During an appearance with Laura Ingraham, DeSantis ripped into Senate Republicans for failing to pursue an aggressive immigration agenda, codify President Donald Trump's executive orders, and confront federal courts that have obstructed the administration's deportation efforts.
> His message was unmistakable: Republicans were handed a historic opportunity to reshape the country, and they blew it.
> And now, with Democrats having captured both chambers of Congress in the November 3 midterms, that opportunity is slipping away.
> DeSantis argued that congressional Republicans spent nearly two years making excuses instead of advancing transformative conservative legislation. "If you're going to do huge conservative things that are going to reorient the country for a generation, fine. But I saw no indication that the current group of Republican senators were interested in doing that type of bold conservative change."
> The Florida governor then rattled off a series of conservative immigration pursued. “Why haven’t we done immigration, shut off H-1B visas? Why haven’t we codified Trump’s immigration executive orders?”

He continued: “Why haven’t we stripped jurisdiction from the federal courts over deportation cases? There’s so many things that could have been done. They didn’t even attempt it, Laura.”

DeSantis’s remarks represent a direct challenge to the Republican establishment, particularly Senate leadership under John Thune, which has repeatedly pointed to procedural obstacles and insufficient votes as explanations for its inability to advance major conservative priorities.

The governor was having none of it. “They would say, ‘Oh, if only we needed 50 votes, we would have done it.’ You don’t have 50 votes for doing conservative things. You’ve never shown that you’ll do conservative things even with 50 votes.”

DeSantis suggested that Republican leadership’s failure to produce meaningful legislative victories contributed to the party’s devastating losses. “And look, this midterm, no question, was a rebuke of the president and the Congress by Democrats, independents, and some Republicans that crossed over.”

But he also pointed to disillusioned conservative voters who may have decided that Republicans had failed to deliver on their promises.“But a lot of our voters who stayed home, they stayed home because they were frustrated with the lack of productivity from Republicans in the House and Senate.”

DeSantis also issued an urgent warning to Senate Republicans, demanding that they use their remaining weeks in power to confirm as many of President Trump’s conservative judicial nominees as possible before Democrats take control of the chamber on January 3, 2027.

The Florida governor urged Republican senators to abandon their usual schedule and work around the clock to fill federal judicial vacancies.“ROLL IN COTS to the US Senate Cloakroom! Have them work around the clock. You are NOT gonna be able to confirm ANY conservative judges starting Jan. 3 for the remainder of President Trump’s term.”

DeSantis pointed to the incoming Democratic Senate majority, warning that even securing support from a handful of Democrats would not be enough to advance Trump’s conservative judicial agenda. “54 for sure, may end up with 56. Even if you got some red state Dems to flip, you are NOT getting 6 Dems.”

He delivered one final instruction to Senate Republicans: “Make sure EVERY VACANCY IS FILLED between NOW and Jan. 3.”

His comments come after months of mounting frustration among grassroots conservatives who watched Republicans struggle to advance key priorities despite their control of Washington.

4- DeSantis designated CAIR as a terrorist organization.

They sued.

They lost.

They are shutting down in Florida.

A win for Florida.

By the way, good luck finding an actual news story written about this.

It's going to be very big, it's going to involve more than Ukraine.

> QUOTE: President Trump tells reporters that First Lady Melania's humanitarian ceasefire deal between Russia and Ukraine was just the first step toward a much larger peace deal.
> But this was the part no one was expecting.
> Trump revealed that he personally met with Russian Presidential Envoy Kirill Dmitriev to discuss something MUCH bigger.
> TRUMP: "I can't tell you what I discussed. But I'm just telling you, there's going to be an agreement. It's going to be a BIG agreement, and it's going to involve more than Ukraine. It's going to be very big, it's going to involve more than Ukraine. And I could even say it might involve all of Europe. It's going to be a big beautiful agreement and everyone's going to be thrilled."

Variety

Fox News Ratings Sink a Staggering 27% in October, but It Still Has Much a Larger Audience Than CNN or MS NOW

> QUOTE: In the lead-up to the 2026 midterm elections, Fox News lost more than a quarter of its overall viewing audience in the month of October, according to new data. That said, the network remains the most-watched news outlet on cable, well ahead of rivals CNN and MS NOW.
> For October 2026, Fox News is on track to post its lowest-rated month in total-day viewers since December 2023, according to preliminary figures from Nielsen, first reported by Status. FNC averaged 1.1 million total viewers for the month, down 27%, and 98,000 viewers in the key 25-54 demographic coveted by advertisers, a drop of 32%.
> The ratings decline comes amid a continuation of the drop-off in TV viewers overall — but Fox News has been losing viewers at a double-digit clip as CNN and MS NOW have been slightly up in recent months. As Variety has reported, Fox News on many nights draws a bigger live audience than one or more broadcast TV networks.
> But its viewership is steadily eroding: In the third quarter of 2026, Fox News saw total-day viewership decline 16%, and viewership in the 25-54 demo fall 24%. Both CNN and MS NOW saw small gains in overall audience for Q3.
> In primetime, Fox News averaged about 2 million total viewers (down 28% year over year) in October, with viewers in the 25-54 demo falling 36% to 183,000, according to the Nielsen data. "Fox & Friends" had its second consecutive month below 1 million total viewers and under 100,000 in the key demo, with October representing its lowest overall viewers since July 2015 (and its lowest in the 25-54 demographic since June 2001).
